

Back deck multi-skilled crews

Sparrows Group and IKM Testing have brought together years of experience in flex lay and pre-commissioning capability to deliver a complete back deck service.

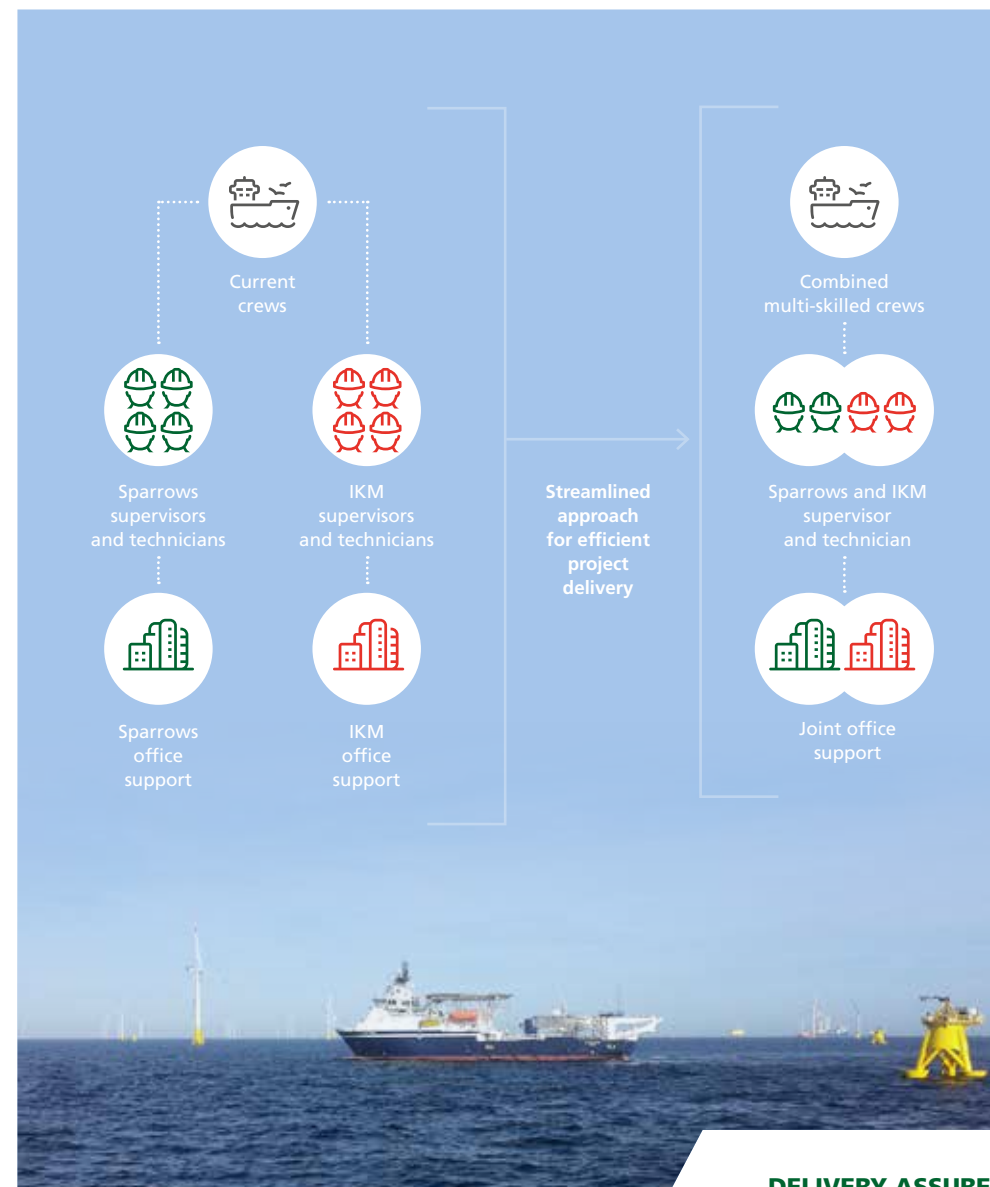

This collaborative approach uses a crew of multi-skilled personnel who are trained to support both flex lay systems and testing roles, providing cost savings to the project with headcount reductions at the engineering and delivery stages.

Having one focal point across the back deck systems and pre-commissioning services also utilises the experience of both companies, ensuring a streamlined approach and efficient project delivery.
